

WHAT PEOPLE SAY . . .

“Far better than Las Vegas: brighter lights, more humour, more tears, more past, more present.”

Suzanne Williams

“Just a note to say how much I enjoyed the workshop. Such a different style to others I've been to & very, very successful. I produced something at every exercise that I feel could be turned into a finished product.”

Anne Ballard

“It was exactly what I was looking for: stimulating, creative, invigorating. A breath of fresh air.”

Peter Lambrou

“The experience was totally amazing. I've been writing for almost thirty years & came up with material I have never been in touch with before.”

Margaret Walsh

“A wide range of styles, forms & themes was embraced, as was an awareness of the differing roots of creativity. One exercise got me in touch with a feeling/memory very familiar, but never previously written down. I was able to use this to finish a larger piece that had been dormant for twenty years.”

Neil Devlin

“You created a wonderful atmosphere & then filled it full of inspiring ideas.”

Jane Sebba

What sort of writer are you? What sort of writer do you dream of becoming? If you have something you'd like to express, do you want to discover how you might go about releasing the writer in you?

Many people have a desire to put their experiences & ideas on paper, but don't know where to start. This workshop has been designed to help free your imagination & give you the confidence to release the writer in you. This exciting fact or fiction short course will help you to develop your creative writing skills and explore your unique powers of expression. This journey of self discovery includes:

- 4 writing sessions over the weekend
- timed exercises to access the conscious and unconscious mind
- techniques to start writing
- a chance to create work which may lead to a short story or novel
- the opportunity to have writing done in the workshop read and discussed (voluntary)

The course will be conducted in a friendly, constructive atmosphere and is open to anyone with a desire to learn, from beginners to experienced writers.
